The PAUL MARINER

I'M on the road back to the World Cup Finals.

I've cleared the first big hurdle on the comeback trail after my Achilles tendon operation and, this week, I hope to be back in the First Division.

My goal is still Spain this summer, and I've not given up hope of being England's centre-forward against France in the opening match on June 16. But first I have to convince

But first I have to convince Ipswich manager Bobby Robson that I am ready to return to the club's Championship bid.

I shall be moving heaven and earth to show that Mariner is back with a vengeance 9

Only after I have proved to him that I am fully recovered can I have any thoughts about proving to England boss Ron Greenwood that I am still his man for Spain.

It's the dream of playing for England in the World Cup Finals that has spurred me on during the weeks of agony and heartache.

One must have ambitions, especially when battling with a serious injury.

But I am also prepared mentally to accept the worst and that time may well run out for me.

Terry Butcher — made his comeback from injury in the same match as Paul Mariner.

But, until the moment arrives when I realise I'm not going to make it — if it ever does — I shall be moving heaven and earth to show everyone that Paul Mariner is back with a vengeance.

I must admit that my comeback match in the reserves at Crystal Palace was a gamble.

That one game in a near-empty Selhurst Park could have ended my hopes of a return to the First Division this season.

After just two days of light training back at the club, there was a danger that I would be pushing myself just a little too far.

If I wasn't ready, there was the possibility of a setback that would have virtually written off the rest of the season for me.

The manager left the decision to me, but I felt it was worth the risk if I was to make a serious bid for First Division soccer during the Easter programme.

the Easter programme.
It was a do-or-die decision and that's why I was apprehensive as we travelled down to London for what was one of the most crucial matches of my career.

But, as it turned out, my worst fears were completely unfounded because I came through with flying colours.

through with flying colours.
I can't begin to describe the feelings of relief after the match when I realised that I had safely negotiated the first hurdle without any complications.

The tendon was a little sore for the first twenty or so minutes, but once I had warmed up, I was able to play without any pain for the first time in about twelve months.

6 One game in a near-empty Selhurst Park could have ended my hopes 9

Although Palace fielded a fairly young and inexperienced side, it was a competitive affair, even though we romped to a 7-0 win. I had no fears at all about the

I had no fears at all about the physical side and, after a while, I had completely forgotten about the injury.

I scored one goal and figured in moves that led to several of the other goals, and I was pleasantly surprised with my performance.

My timing left a little to be

My timing left a little to be desired, but that was to be expected. I felt sharp and fit, and after the game I knew I wasn't that far away from being ready to boost Ipswich's Championship drive.

Manager Bobby Robson took time off to see my return and both he and reserve manager Charlie Woods were surprised at my fitness and level of performance after such a long lay-off

It was also helpful in my case to see my England colleague Terry Butcher make his comeback in the same match. Poor Terry has had a Cup-tie at Luton in January, and in many ways has been in far worse condition than myself. But he also came through well.

Two days later, I was in action again in a friendly against a Norwegian side, and once again I had no reaction.

But I felt rather more tired, which was quite natural with two games in less than 48 hours, plus a considerable amount of sprinting and training the day

We won that match 3-1 and it was great to see big Terry scoring twice to give his confidence a boost.

I think I am just ahead of Terry in the race for the First Division fitness stakes, although it might be a close run thing in the end.

But it's certainly great to be back and hopefully by the time you read this, I'll have made my First Division return in the vital Easter clash with West Ham at Portman Road.

I'm looking forward to returning alongside Alan Brazil, who is producing the best football of his career.

PRICE OF FAME

TOTTENHAM defender Paul Price became the first Englishman to skipper Wales when he led the side in the friendly with Spain.

The former Luton player, whose father was born in Merthyr Tydfil, is the fifth Welsh captain in the past 11 months.

Goalkeeper Dai Davies, striker Leighton James and midfield player Brian Flynn have all skippered the side since Vancouver's Terry Yorath.

FORMER Coventry winger Don Nardiello, who hit the headlines in November 1977 by winning a Welsh cap just 25 days after his League debut, is now playing in the Alliance Premier League with Telford.

He returned this season from America after a spell with Washington Diplomats and had trials with West Brom and Sheffield Utd.

TABLE-TOPPERS

WATFORD reached the top of the Second Division for the first time in their 62-year League history by virtue of their 3-0 defeat of Bolton.

Two of the goals came from long-serving Luther Blissett, while former Newcastle and Brighton 'keeper Eric Steele popped up for his first senior game of the season.

ARMSTRONG'S GOAL TARGET

SOUTHAMPTON'S David Armstrong is determined to follow in the footsteps of team-mate Kevin Keegan and top his best-ever goals tally this season.

SPURS defender Chris Hughton admits: "I thought we'd never score against Barcelona.

Defender-cum-midfielder Graham Roberts gave the FA Cup holders hope of reaching the European Cup Winners' Cup Final with a last-gasp equaliser at White Hart Lane with just three minutes to go.

"It was a night of frustration for us. We had all the game and were camped outside their penalty area for almost 90 minutes," said Chris.

BRIGHTON striker Andy Ritchie is glad he made the heartbreaking decision to leave his boyhood heroes, Manchester United.

The youngster's burning ambition was to make the grade with the hometown side, so it was a painful day when he packed his boots and moved to the unfashionable South Coast club. But now he's beginning to reap the rewards of his brave decision following a call-up to the England Under-21 party for their game against Poland last week.

"I'm glad I decided to leave Old Trafford now. Even though it's taken me a long time to settle down here I'm sure I made the right move.

"It was a big wrench to move from Old Trafford and move south. All my family and friends live up there and I'd always been a United fan.

"But there was just no future for me at United. I just couldn't get a regular first team place," said Andy, who joined Brighton for £500,000 in October,

"It's taken me a year, but now I'm very happy. I love the place and the goals have started to go in for me," added the 21-year-old. "I didn't have the best of starts at the Goldstone Ground. Last season ! suffered a lot of niggling injuries and it took me quite a time before I could find a house of my own.

"I had been staying with my fellow striker Mike Robinson and I didn't feel settled until I got a place of my own.

"Obviously there's a big difference between the two clubs. Manchester United is an institution whereas Brighton is a small family club.

But this season we have shown that we've got the potential and the players to make it in the big time.

FOCUS on one of the England Under-21 squad's newest recruits.

"Big money signings like Jimmy Case wouldn't come to Brighton unless they thought they could achieve something.

We're a relatively new side and haven't played together long and yet we are still holding our own in the top half of the First Division.

This season we are aiming for a place in Europe. If we could do that it would be a great boost for the town and the club

Andy is playing in front of smaller crowds than he was used to when he played for United in a career that spanned 33 League games and produced 13 goals.

And he says: "Unlike cities in the North West, Brighton just isn't geared up for football. There are so many other things for the people down here to do.

"It's disappointing to us that we don't get the crowds at the Goldstone Ground which we feel we deserve. When Brighton were in the Third Division they were getting better gates than they are now.

Even though the crowds haven't been turning up in force, the England selectors have, and Andy is the second Brighton player to be recognised at international level this season.

His skipper, Steve Foster, made his full debut against N. Ireland in March. "The Under-21 call came right out of the blue. I didn't believe it when a friend told me the news.

Now I've just got to keep scoring goals and playing well and hope that my full international chance will come."

Stratton on Saturday

Pictured above is my special quest opponent — Simon Holland (12) of Sidcup, Kent. Simon's a fan of Cup finalists QPR and his favourite player is midfielder Tony Currie

BIG Willie Young returns to Highbury on Saturday — up against his former team-mates for the first time since his £150,000 transfer to Nottingham Forest.

And the flame-haired Scot will be eager to prove to the Arsenal faithful that he made the right move — especially with the 'Gunners' currently above Forest in the League.

Willie fell out with Arsenal manager Terry Neill during the close season in talks over a new contract.

Certainly the big stopper won't be taken for granted on Saturday. The Arsenal management will be only too aware of his defensive strength and the havoc he can create inside the opponents' box at COLUMN

Apart from putting one over his old club, it will be a chance for Willie to help Forest prevent Arsenal from landing the League double over Brian Clough's team. Back in November, the Gunners' came away from the City Ground with three points following a 2-1 win — the goals coming from Alan Sunderland and Brian Talbot.

Willie Young took no part in that game because talks over his transfer were deadlocked.

And while I can't see him coming away from Highbury on Saturday with anything more than memories, it won't be for lack of trying.

Meanwhile relegation-haunted

Middlesbrough travel to Aston Villa looking for more success following their crucial away victory recently over similarly troubled neighbours Sunderland.

They won't find points so easy to come by on this occasion,

I'm sure they'd settle for a draw like the one they earned at Ayresome Park against Villa earlier this season.

And so would most of the fans

it was a 3-3 thriller!
On that occasion Villa went 3-1 up only to "throw it away" in the words of Villa striker Peter Withe, whose shot led to their first goal and who set up the third for Gary Shaw.

But the real hero of the day was Billy Ashcroft who came on as substitute and scored twice to earn Middlesbrough a point.

Last, but not least, loswich should exact revenge for their 2-0 defeat at Stoke when the two teams meet again at Portman Road.

I've predicted possible scorelines for ten of Saturday's matches — and the challenge is beat me if you can.

As usual there is £5 at stake in my special challenge match against one lucky 'Match' reader. • Bad luck to Wayne Church my opponent in the March 27 issue of 'Match' - who lost six points to three.

TONY GALV

SPURS' Huddersfield-born winger Tony Galvin has turned his back on a chance to play for England.

The 25-year-old has opted to make himself availabe to Eire—the birthplace of his grandfather.
Explained Tony: "I looked at the situation carefully and decided that I'd stand a better chance of winning full caps with Eire than I would with England. "It wasn't a difficult decision to make. The more chance I get of playing international football, the batter it will be for my career

"My grandfather was born in Limerick. All I'm waiting for now is the authorities to verify my claim.

There's no doubt that the news will delight Eire manager Eoin Hand because Tony has been one of the driving forces behind Fottenham's push for the trebie. Spurs made sure of a return to Wembley — it will be their fifth appearance there in a y when they beat Second Division Leicester 2-0 at Villa Park in the FA Cup Semi-Finals.

Spurs are also in the last four of the European Cup-Winners Cup and handily placed in the

First Division title race
"Reaching the FA Cup Final again is fantastic. No matter how many times you play there, it's something special

Chance

"You've got to make the most of each occasion because you never know if you'll ever get a chance to go back. "Some players never get an opportunity to play at Wembley

so all the Spurs players realise just how lucky we are."

Spurs meet Second Division Queen's Park Rangers in the Final on Saturday, May 22, and look red-hot favourites to retain the PA Cup.

But Tony knows it won't be an easy game to win. He said "We anderestimate them. They are a class side with a lot of quality players On their day, they are a match for any team in the country

"Players like Tony Currie will love the big occasion

"But we've got to black thoughts of Wembley's twin towers from our minds because there's a couple of other competitions to fight for.

"We've got a hectic run-in to the end of the season and it's very tiring for the players. We've just got to convince ourselves we're not tired

"The second-leg of our European Cup Winners' Cup Semi-Finel in Barcelona is going to be a particularly difficult one for us. The Spanierds made no secret of their attitude by the way they played in the 1-1 draw at White Hart Lane, though we were still unlucky to concede a goal. Now we must win or get a high-scoring draw in Barcelona to go through to the Final and that will be a real test of character for us.

"Although the cup competitions are regarded as the glamour ties, the League Championship is the trophy I want to win most.

Challenge

"Even though we've got our fingers in a lot of pies, I see no reason why we can't still win it.
Our squad is certainly strong enough for the challenge.

"Although the team has gone through an indifferent patch in the First Division recently, that can't be put down to our cup successes We're just as determined to win the League."

Tony, who joined Spurs straight from school, made his League debut for the club in February 1979 against Manchester City, but he had to wait until midway through last season before he got a chance to establish himself

He played in the final 17 First Division games and picked up an FA Cup winners' medal in Spurs'

A-1 replay victory over
Manchester City
This term, he's found himself a marked man and he says: "I've been receiving more attention from defenders and it's something I'm working on."

It has been reported that dedicated Subbuteo players have started keeping in trim solo-style.

Using the very latest Subbuteo Skills Trainer.

Each skills kit contains a half-size pitch with specially designed markings for the various exercises. For example, one set of markings is designed to practise accurate passing. There are four cones too, vital accessories to help improve ball control.

The kit also contains two balls, one large, one medium and five players.

Also included in the Skills Trainer is a target board to clip onto the front of a goal.

As summer fast approaches, World Cup fever continues to sweep across the country. Not even the bad weather can deter loyal Subbuteo fans. It seems that nothing can put them off their favourite sport.

IT took an England youth cap to convince the cynics that Reading youngster Neil Webb was not living on the reputation of his father's footballing days with the Third Division club

Third Division club.

It was only after being selected for England youths last season that some people realised that I was being chosen on merit and not because of my father.

You don't get picked for England because of your father, says the 18-year-old midfield player, who is Match Weekly's Third Division Matchman of the Month' for March.

It was a problem following in dad's footsteps. With him still being involved at the club as physio and then reserve team manager, I had to withstand the usual taunts of favouritism.

When I got selected for teams, some people felt I was getting the chance because my father was well in with manager. Maurice Evans.

It was a difficult problem to handle as an apprentice. Dad obviously influenced my career, but he never praised me.

In fact, he gave me a lot of stick if I did anything wrong. If I thought I had had a good game, he would bring me straight back down again."

But former Reading defender Doug can have few criticisms at the moment as his young son blossoms into one of the brightest talents in the lower divisions.

Several big clubs have been charting the progress of the teenager, who has a low prominently in Reading's promotion challenge with 14 goals.

promise, believes he possesses the most dashing winger in South America.

And, when one considers the oceans of talent that fairly ooze from the camps of Brazil and Argentina, then 20-year-old Patricio Yanez must be something special.

Yanez scored two goals in the qualifying competition when Chile overcame the undaunting threats of Paraguay and Ecuador.

"He is fast, skilful and scores goals," says Santibanez. "The rest of the South American sides don't have a player of his ability."

The young forward from San Luis will be keen to make a big impression in the Finals because he is looking for a big money transfer to one of Europe's leading clubs next season

The Chile team - plus a few cheeky young fans who smuggled their way on to the picture — line up prior to their qualifying match against Ecuador in Santiago.

Chile's other key man is experienced striker Carlos Caszely, a survivor from the 1974 Finals when the Chileans finished third in their group behind the two German sides.

It was after that competition in West Germany that Caszely took his talents to Spain where he played for Levante and Espanol.

Now he is back home with the Colo-Colo club from which Santibanez has drawn most of his World Cup squad including 35-year-old defender Elias Figueroa, who is a key figure in Chile's defensive planning.

Left: Patricio Yanez—regarded by Chile's manager as the best winger in South America and definitely a man to watch in Spain.

CHILE'S only consolution from their expedition to Spain may be a victory over the minnows from Algeria in Group Two.

Neither West Germany or Austria are unlikely to lose much sleep during the first phase of the tournament in the prospect of facing Chile.

They haven't reached any great international heights since finishing third in the 1962 Finals, which they hosted.

Like England, it will be the Czechs' first appearance in the World Cup Finals since 1970, and many believe that since their European Championship successes, they have perhaps wandered over the crest of the hill

They were none too impressive in the qualifying matches, when they just shaded Wales on goal difference after scrambling a point from the Russians in their final match.

But since stamping their passport for Spain, the Czechs have produced some impressive warm-up performances, notably in South America with draws against Brazil and Argentina.

Liverpool's lan Rush — First Division 'Matchman of the Month' for the second time in three months.

YOU just can't keep Liverpool striker lan Rush out of the headlines these

For the second time in three months, the First Division's top marksman is Match Weekly's 'Matchman of the Month'.

It completes a remarkable hat-trick for the European Champions because it was Liverpool skipper Graeme Souness who collected the First Division award for Welsh international lan, enjoying a successful first full season in the top flight, pipped Anfield striking partner Kenny Dalglish for last month's honour.

Both returned an average mark of 7.80 from five League matches, but lan, a £300,000 buy from Chester, achieved two star ratings to Kenny's one.

lan, like the other four divisional winners, receives an inscribed plaque.

Filling the next two places are Sunderland goalkeeper Chris Turner and Middlesbrough striker Billy Ashcroft, who are both involved in a desperate relegation battle.

It's particularly noteworthy for Chris, who has only just returned to the Sunderland side after spending most of the season in the shadows of Barry Siddall

DIVISION ONE

Player	Games	Average
lan Rush (Liverpool)	5	7.80
Kenny Dalglish (Liverpool	5	7 80
Chris Turner (Sunderland)	4	7.75
Billy Ashcroft (Middlesbrough)	4	7.75
Danny Thomas (Coventry)		7 60
Gordon Mair (Notts County)		7.60
Adrian Heath (Everton)	. 4	7.50
Graeme Sharp (Everton)		7 50
Graeme Souness (Liverpool)	. 4	7.50

MATCHMAN

PRESENTING our 'Matchman of the Month' awards for March.

The awards are based on individual player ratings in League matches included in our exclusive Match Facts section.

A player must figure in at least three League matches during the month to qualify.

NORWICH City's Martin O'Neill has hit top form since resuming duties with the Second Division club after a brief interlude with Manchester City.

And that's heartening news for Irish followers with the 'Canaries' star expected to lead Northern Ireland in the World Cup Finals.

His average mark of 8.00 from four matches last month put him clear of Oldham skipper Ged Keegan, and Barnsley striker Colin Walker, a former dustman who has made his mark in recent months

DIVISION TWO

Player	Games	Average
Martin O'Neill (Norwich)	4	8.00
Ged Keegan	4	7.75
Cofin Walker (Barnsley)		7.75
Steve Springs (Cambridge)		7.66
Steve Wicks (Q.P.R.).	6	7.50
John Brownlie (Newcastle)	6	7.50
Dave Watson (Norwich)		7 50

FIRST DEGREE, BURNS!

TOMMY Burns, the driving force behind Celtic's bid to retain the Scottish Premier Division championship, is the winner north of the border.

It capped a great month for the talented player who was also recalled to the Scotland squad for the friendly with Holland

Player	Games	Average
Tommy Burns (Celtic)	5	7.90
John Martin (Airdrie)	5	7,60
Jim McArthur (Hibernian)		7 40
Murdoch MacLeod (Celtic)		7.40

lebb's feat

READING teenager Neil Webb's contribution to his side's promotion challenge has earned him the Third Division award.

Although sharing the same average mark of 7 66 with February's winner — Chesterfield's Danny Wilson - and Doncaster defender Pat Lally, it was felt that the 18-year-old's outstanding displays were worthy of the honour.

He had scored 14 goals up to the end of March.

DIVISION THREE

Player	Games	Average
Neil Webb (Reading)	6	7,66
Danny Wilson (Chesterfield)	6	7 66
Pat Lally (Doncaster)	3	7 66
Steve Aizlewood (Portsmouth),	4	7.50
Bryan Robson (Carlisle)	. 7	7 42

YORK may be fighting off the threat of seeking re-election, but two of their players are top of the Fourth Division table for March.

Leading the way is recent signing Peter Aitken, who was one of the 'famous eight' sacked by hard-up Bristol City earlier this

His average rating of 7.80 puts him just ahead of team-mate Mike Astbury, the young keeper who began the season as an apprentice in the reserves.

DIVISION FOUR

Don't write off Scotland

AM outraged that so many people have written off Scotland's chances of reaching the second round in this year's World Cup Finals.

It's true that Scotland do have to play in a difficult first round upon against Brazil, Russia and New Zeeland hut they still have a break hance of going through Scotland's last game against Brazil anded in a 2-0 defeat in 1977, but no Scotland's last game against Brazil anded in a 2-0 defeat in 1977, but no Scotland's last game against 20 minutes. Glory days await ARSENAL have come in for a lot of stick this season. They have been called boring for their overall poor scoring record.

But even if the 'Gunners' don't figure in the Championship battle at the end of the season, they can be proud with what they have achieved.

Manager Terry Neill has resisted the temptation to splash out on a big-name striker, preferring to wait until the right man becomes available.

Instead, he has persisted with his youngsters and they have risen to the occasion. Stewart Robson, Chris Whyte, Raphael Meade and Paul Davis have all come in and done particularly well for Arsenal.

They will be even better players next season and, with a new goal-scorer, the 'Gunners' can look forward to a great new era. Richard Page (15), Plumstead, London.

 IN REPLY to recent letters defending Arsenal I think they deserve the title of 'boring'. The only way they will overcome that is to buy a top class striker to replace Frank Stapleton. Brian Mullens (10), Sidcup, Kent.

I'm speechless!

I'M so annoyed with the Austrian referee who denied Liverpool a chance of winning the European Cup. In the Quarter-Final second leg in Sofia, he:

Disallowed Ian Rush's goal. Refused to give Liverpool at least three penalties.

Let Solia players knock the Liverpool team around. Booked David Johnson.

Let Sofia waste time.

 Sent Mark Lawrenson off I'm not just being a bad sport. I'm proud of my team. But when Liverpool come up against decisions like that, well . . . I'm speechless! Paula Wright, West Derby, Liverpool.

Legends lift Darlington

AS a supporter of Darlington, I would like to express my thanks to two football legends Bobby Charlton and Malcolm Macdonald - who have both attended fund-raising events for the 'Quakers' £50,000 appeal.

Bobby came to a public meeting in Darlington and 'Supermac' played in a fund-raising game which 5,500 people attended.

Thanks a million, Bobby and Malcolm. With your help, we Darlington fans will make sure the club goes on for ever. Alan Curry, Darlington.

MARADONA IS A WANTED MAN

l WAS really delighted when Southampton's Steve Moran was voted Young Player of the Year by the Professional Footballers Association.

Although Steve is missing from the Southampton attack because of injury, this award must have chaered him.

Just think of the players who finished behind Steve in the voting -- Liverpool's Ronnie Whelen and lan Rush to name

And Steve has had to force his way into a Southampton side full of household names such as Kevin Keegan, Mike Channon

It was a great achievement for Steve, I hope Ron Greenwood takes note and gives Steve a full international chance when he comes off the injured list.

Right: Billy Bonds may be out of action for the rest of the season.

THREE successive away wins have pointed West Ham back in the direction of Europe, but it's our home game form that could check our progress towards a place in the UEFA Cup next season.

Our odd goal victories at Middlesbrough, Swansea and Manchester City were hewn out of solid, cautious performances that frustrated the hosts.

They were not particularly defensive in the true sense of the word, but we all appreciate that our fans wouldn't accept that kind of unspectacular display at Upton Park, even if it meant success

But it has boosted confidence no end in the Hammers' camp and, despite all our injury problems, we believe we are back on the right course for a place in Europe.

I missed the 3-2 win at Middlesbrough through illness, but in the 1-0 success at Swansea I could detect the frustration in their approach which we have often felt in home matches.

We grabbed an early goal through Francois Van der Elst before the pattern of play was established, and from that moment Swansea had a big hurdle to climb.

Although they were obviously capable of saving the game, they were equally conscious of the fact that we completed the 'double' over them last season and that we are a difficult side to break down when in front.

They became desperate as the game progressed, but it was easy to see why they have made such a big impression on the First Division this season.

As for Manchester City, I would imagine that they were very disappointed with their performance when we beat them 1-0.

Maine Road is always a very daunting place to play, but City seemed to miss the inspiration of Trayor Francis.

They are a very solid side, as one would expect from a team under manager John Bond, and up to the point when Paul Goddard struck the winner in the closing quarter it was anybody's game.

game.
But we completed a tremendous away hat-trick and we must now look forward to the rest of the season with some relish.

It's not gone unnoticed that, prior to the Easter games, I hadn't scored since the end of January, when we defeated West Brom 3-1 at Upton Park.

I have missed three or four games through injury and illness, but it works out at about eight games without a goal.

A few season ago I would have worried myself sick about such a lean spell because I used to live or die on my goalscoring record. But I am more than satisfied

But I am more than satisfied with my contribution to the side, particularly away from home, where Paul Goddard and myself have been forced into plenty of hard running.

hard running.
One big blow to our hopes of a place in Europe is the loss of skipper Billy Bonds, who has a bout of jaundice that could keep him out for the rest of the

He is an inspiration to the side by simply being a good player. Geoff Pike is also out of action

Geoff Pike is also out of action with a knee injury and so it must be satisfying for John Lyall to see that the level of performance hasn't been affected by their absence.

Young Paul Allen is playing well in Geoff's role, while Alvin Martin has returned at the back after being out of action.

after being out of action.
You wouldn't know he had been out looking at the way he played at Swansea and Manchester City and he looks as though he is ready to do a job for England in the World Cup Finals.

THE man the Italians affectionately call 'Papa Dino' is once more preparing to take on the best in the world ... at the grand old age of 40!

WATCH OUT FOR JULIO

FOOTBALL CLUB

ONE man to watch in Spain could be Peru's Julio Cesar Uribe.

The 24-year-old Sporting Cristal striker has dislodged Teofilio Cubillas as his country's main scoring hope.

He was Peru's top scorer in 1979 and 1980 and when he broke into the national side he said: "I've just got to go out and prove I'm too good to leave out of the team.

And Julio reckons the current Peru team is better than the ones that raised a few eyebrows in Mexico and Argentina during the seventies.

DEREK'S FIRST DIVISION DAYS WERE OVER UNTIL STOKE CITY OFFERED HIM A . . .

STAGGERED! That was how Derek Parkin felt when Stoke City offered the 33-year-old defender a chance to stay in the First Division.

He was certain his days at the top were over when new Wolves boss lan Greaves gave him a free transfer.

It ended an era at Molineux spanning 14 faithful years and more than 500 League games in the famous old gold and black.

"I half expected it, but it was still a rather sad moment," says Derek, who made his Stoke debut in the thrilling 4-3 defeat at Southampton last month.

"I still know I could have done a good job for Wolves, but the manager is obviously looking to the future."

It looked as though Derek would reluctantly join the march to America until Stoke chief Richie Barker, a former assistant manager at Wolves, came in with the offer of a two-year contract.

PARKIN TICKET

"I was resigning myself to America or dropping down the divisions," says Derek.

"I wasn't very keen on going abroad but, at the time, that was the best possible offer available.

"But when Richle phoned me up with an offer I just couldn't believe it.

"It has given me a chance to play in the First Division for probably another two years. "And I'm very lucky

"People have been asking me for years how long I can keep playing in the First Division.

"I have feit that my form with Wolves this season has been fairly consistent, eithough I have been affected by a few niggling injuries.

"But I honestly feel that I can keep playing in the First Division for at least another two seasons.

"Richie seems to be getting a useful squad together at Stoke with players like myself, Dave Watson and Sammy McIlroy brought in to add some experience to the side.

"I just hope that during my stay at Stoke I can repay the faith Richie has shown in me."

It would certainly be ironic if Wolves were relegated at the end of the season while Derek remained in the First Division.

"I hope that doesn't happen," he says.

Left: Derek Parkin — "I'm very lucky because at the end of the season there are going to be a lot of players without clubs.

Right: Sammy Mcliroy — like Derek, he was brought in to add experience to the Stoke side. "I would like to think that both clubs will be in the First Division next season.

"You don't spend 14 years at one club and not feel something for them.

"I enjoyed my spell at Wolves and I wouldn't want to have changed it. It saddens me now to see the club in such a sorry state near the bottom of the table, but there were plenty of good times, like the two League Cup

"I shall still look first for their results on a Saturday, but my priorities now are with Stoke.

"And I hope that during my spell at the Victoria Ground, the club can make more progress in the First Division."

Tommy Williams: "When I heard the Spurs supporters cheering I knew it was the end."

AS he disappeared down the Villa Park tunnel on a stretcher, Tommy Williams' backward glance told him that Leicester's FA Cup dream was over.

His last glimpse of the action was to see luckless team-mate Ian Wilson lob the ball over goalkeeper Mark Wallington to score one of the most amazing own goals in FA Cup history.

It was the final act on a day of disaster for the brave Second Division fighters. They'd lost right-back Tommy with a broken leg and gifted Cup favourites Spurs a Wembley place in the space of just five minutes.

Sapare of just five minutes.

"Ian's mistake was the last thing I saw before the stretcher reached the dressing room. When I heard the Spurs supporters cheering I knew it was the end," said Tommy.

Different

"Up until that moment we were still in the hunt for an equaliser. Steve Lynex had just gone close with a shot and if that had gone in it could have been so different for us."

As if losing an FA Cup Semi-Final wasn't cruel enough. Tommy now faces a battle through the summer to get fit for the start of part or the start of the st next season.

He broke his right leg in a collision with Spurs winger Tony Galvin and he says: "As

"When I heard the crack I hoped against hope that it was my shin pad and not my leg," added Tommy, who hadn't missed a League game for Leicester in over two years.

"This is the first time I've ever been out through injury in my career at Filbert Street," said the 25-year-old defender.

"I don't know how long it will take to recover, but I'm battling to be fit for the start of next BEWILDERED West Brom midfielder Andy King nursed his broken nose and reflected: "Football's a wicked game.

Battered and bruised, Andy was just waking up to the harsh reality that the team he left at the beginning of the season had stopped him from going to Wembley.

"It just shows how cruel life can be. I'm feeling so down and sorry for myself," said Andy, who moved to The Hawthorns from QPR for £400,000.

"On FA Cup Final day I'll wish I was still a Rangers player, but that's the only time I'll regret the move.

The hardest thing to accept is the way we went out. We just didn't play to our true potential and disappointed so many people.

"I don't think we were over-confident. I told the lads it wasn't going to be easy. Any team with three proven goalscorers of the calibre of Simon Steinrod, Mike Flanagan and Clive Allen aren't going to be pushovers.

Tremendous

"And we all knew that Tony Currie would excel on a big occasion like that.

Andy believes that Bob Hazell's tremendous marking job on England striker Cyrille Regis was the turning point of the game.

'Cyrille Regis is one of our big strengths and we tend to play to him all the time. At Highbury it turned out to be our weakness because Bob played so well.

"Bob is very much like Cyrille in physique and Rangers manager Terry Venables did his homework and realised that Bob was the man to put on our striker.

"When Cyrille isn't allowed to play we're not as deadly as a team and Bob made sure that he wasn't allowed to turn it on.

"After the game I felt really sorry for the older players in our side. People like skipper John Wile and

Battered, bruised and bewildered

Ally Robertson may never get another chance of playing in a cup final.

It was tragic that Ally Robertson was involved in the goal. He and the defence have worked wonders this season and it's down to them in many respects that we got that far.

"The goal was a pure fluke. Ally was clearing the ball when it bounced off Clive Allen's knee into the net.

Andy wasn't on the field when the goal was scored - he'd been taken off at half-time and replaced by Gary

"I broke my nose when I was knocked unconscious midway through the first half after a collision with Bob Hazel.

"As I was coming round I opened my eyes and saw blood everywhere. I promptly fainted. I'm scared of

'I should really have gone off then because I just wasn't with it. John Wile said that he kept shouting at me, but he couldn't get any response. I was in a daze.

"The lads were desperately disappointed to go out of the Cup like that. It was a subdued bus journey home. "It wouldn't have been so bad if we'd have at wouldn't have been so bad it we'd have given a good account of ourselves and gone down 3-2. But on the day we just didn't play well and Tottenham deserved to win.

"The defeat has made the lads doubly determined to go flat out for promotion to the First Division. At the beginning of the season that was our priority. It hasn't changed.

Glamour

"The FA Cup has all the glamour, but at the end of the day First Division football is the important thing.

"Most of the lads have played in the First Division before and are desperate for a return.
It was a terrible disappointment when we were relegated.

"The First Division is the only place to play.
Cup glory is great but there's nothing to compete with playing against the cream of the Football League every week," added Tommy.

of Semi-Final defeat more than most . . .

Andy could have turned out to be the hero of the Semi-Final at Highbury because he had an early effort disallowed.

"I was so sure it was a goal that I turned away in jubilation. I just couldn't believe the referee when he ruled me offside."

Andy knows that he's now get to put the misery of defeat hehind him: "Albion have got to bounce back and win some League games.

"Fortunately we had a First Division game against Swansea a couple of days after the Cup Semi-Final and that helped to take our minds off the defeat.

Albion have the character to bounce back. When I first joined the club it was down in the dumps, but it's changed 100 per cent.

Feelings

"Although this defeat has knocked the stuffing out of us for a white, manager Ronnie Allan won't let it pray on our minds," said Andy.

Looking forward to the Cup Final at Wembley, Andy has no hard feelings towards his old club.

'Although I can't see them beating Spurs, I'll be cheering for them. But I'm not very good at predictions - I thought we'd beat Rangers in the Semi-Final.

"Still, I'm delighted for my old mate Tony Currie. Never mind about Glenn Hoddle, Tony will love Wembley."

Andy, who started his League career with Luton, missed West Brom's defeat at the hands of Championship-chasing Swansea just three days after the Semi-Final defeat.

He said: "We've got the potential to become a very good side. I know it's easy to say that but now we've got to prove it because that's the only way people will
